Any One Of 5 Nations Holds Key To World Peace By Veto

(Editor's note: This is the second of six stories explaining how the United Nations—just fashioned at San Francisco to keep world peace—will work.)

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, June 26 (AP)—The bonerush of the United Nations is the security council. It's a pistol, fully loaded.

To keep peace that pistol can be used against the head of any member of the United Nations except the Big Five; United States, Britain, Russia, France, China.

If some smaller nation starts to shove a neighbor around, the council can throw an economic headlock on it by isolating it from the rest of the world.

This can be done by shutting off commerce, telephone, telegraphic, cable air and rail communications with it.

If this isn't enough, if that same aggressor nation ignores the economic blockade and moves in on a neighbor, then the security council can call upon the United Nations' members to crush it with their armies.

Big Five Exempt
So much for the smaller nations. That's what the council can do to them. But it can't work that way against the Big Five. This is why:

The council will have 11 members, the Big Five as permanent members and six smaller nations elected to two-year terms each by the general assembly. The most important single word to remember about the council is "veto." The Big Five have veto power to an extraordinary degree. The smaller nations have it, too, but to a far less powerful degree.

When there is some kind of international dispute which may lead to trouble, the council can vote to discuss the problem by a simple majority vote of any seven members of the council.

But for any further step—from voting to investigate the problem, to use economic force, to use armed force—all five of the Big Five must vote "yes," plus a "yes" vote from two of the six smaller nations.

One No Spoils Plan
So, if one of the Big Five votes "no," nothing happens. Thus if—for example—France invaded Belgium, France could paralyze the United Nations by voting "no" to any action the council wanted to take against France.

This means the United Nations would break down. The Big Five wanted it this way. They argue: There can be world peace only if the Big Five cooperate. If one kicks over the traces, then there's another world war anyway.

But the veto power goes further. Suppose Holland, a friend of France, invaded Belgium. France could block any action against Holland simply by voting "no" in the security council.

There's another side to the argument put up by the Big Five for this special veto power they have.

Reverse Plan
Suppose the Big Five agreed to give up their veto power and let council action depend merely upon a majority vote of any seven members of the council.

Then—again using France as an example—if France invaded Belgium, a majority vote of the council might go against France, the United Nations would still be a functioning body and could stop France by force.

Then there's a reverse side to this argument: Suppose Britain, Russia, and the United States also voted for no action against France. The smaller nations, plus China, would have a majority and could vote to use force on France.

This wouldn't mean much. With—

CUT DEFICIT IN BOND SALES

Adams countians sliced a few more dollars from the deficit in E bond sales for the "Mighty Seventh" war loan quota during the past 24 hours. Total sales this morning were $503,531.25. There remains $196,468.75 to be sold to reach the quota of $700,000.

The sale of bonds, other than E bonds, to individuals climbed to $871,340, increasing the over-subscription of the quota of $760,000.

There was no change in the figures for corporate bonds which total $1,353,237.50.

The over-all subscriptions in the county of all bonds is more than $610,000.

Philadelphia, June 26 (AP)—Pennsylvania entered the final week of the Seventh War Loan drive with nearly one-third of the quota to go.

"We owe it to ourselves and to our servicemen to reach the quota," said G. Ruhland Rebmann, Jr., chairman of the state War Finance committee. Sales stood at $199,200,000 or 69.2 per cent of the quota of $288,000,000 in E bonds.

33 NAMES ARE ON ASSOCIATE JUDGE BALLOTS

An unprecedented number of "write-in" votes for associate judge characterized the Democratic primary election June 19. Thirty-three names were written on the ballots in boroughs and townships in Adams county for "favorite sons."

A Dale Knouse, however, lead the field of both Republicans and democrats, winning the Republican nomination for which he was a candidate with 1801 votes and the Democratic nomination with 60 votes.

On the Republican ballot 1,551 votes were cast for John C. Arnold for Judge of the Superior court and 1,109 for W. Heber Dithrich, according to the official tally completed at the office of the county commissioners Monday afternoon.

Local Judge Vote
Judge W. C. Sheely won the Republican nomination for judge of the court of common pleas with 1,769 votes. Leighton C. Taylor drew 29 write-in votes for the same office; Donald P. McPherson received 13, and Raymond F. Topper, George Baker, Henry March and Elizabeth Redding all drew one each.

The Republican nomination for county treasurer went to D. C. Stallsmith who had 1,318 votes by the official count against 671 for Clyde D. Berger. Emma E. Sheffer polled 1,450 votes for clerk of court against 610 for Roy C. Wolf; and Mervin L. Rice won the nomination for jury commissioner with 1,356 against 550 for P. E. Brough, a write-in candidate.

Superior Court
The Democratic votes for judge of the Superior Court were fairly evenly distributed between A. Marshall Thompson who received 749 and John Morgan Davis who received 724. Judge W. C. Sheely also won the Democratic nomination for judge of common pleas with an official vote of 1,126. Write-ins gave District Attorney J. Francis Yake 2 votes for the same office and Doc Lemmon (as the name appeared on the ballots) and Donald P. McPherson each received one vote. Bernard Brashers, a returned serviceman, won the nomination for clerk of the courts with 430 votes against 38 write-ins for Emma Sheffer.

Other write-in candidates for the nomination for associate judge with the number of votes they received were as follows: David Myers 1; John W. Miller 1; Elmo Smith 2; Dr. T. C. Miller 5; Earl Guise 1; A. Dale Knouse 6; E. C. McDannell 10; Howard Trimmer 4; Roscoe Hoffacker 1; Doc Hayes Beard 2; William Kimple 1; John C. Bream 3; Milton Rimmel 2; John D. Lipsey 1; C. B. Dougherty 8; C. C. Livingston 1; Denton R. Miller 1; Allen Currens 1; Leroy Wintrobe 1; Harold Roberts 1; Myron Brough 1; Bernard Brashers 1; H. E. Bum-baugh 40; Allen Holtzworth 1; C. E. Fair 1; Walter T. Mehring 1; Price Oyler 2; Paul Weaver Jr. (not of age) 1.

Write-in candidates for associate judge on the Republican ticket were: Harry Brown 2; P. P. Larue 1; Clarence Fair 1; and J. C. Bream 1.

CAPT. KESSEL SEES RESULTS OF BOMBINGS

A Ninth Air Force Bomber Base, Germany (By Mail)—Captain Lester W. Kessel, Jr., of Gettysburg R. 3, 24-year-old Flight Commander in the 397th "Bridge Busters" Bombardment Group of B-26 Marauders and a veteran of 69 combat missions, recently returned from two weeks of front-line duty to his home in Germany. His trip was made during the closing days of the war as part of the army's "Ground-Air Liaison" plan under which men of the different branches of service have exchanged visits. Kessel is now en route home.

Capt. Kessel's wife, Mrs. Jerry O. Kessel, of Memphis, Texas, is now visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester W. Kessel, Sr., Gettysburg R. 3.

With the members of his air crew, Capt. Kessel was driven by jeep to the 9th U. S. Army sector where they joined the famous Second Armored Division near Magdeburg. Upon his return to his Ninth Air Force base, Capt. Kessel had this to say about his trip:

Vividly Impressed
"The impressions made on me were varied and of equal durability so that I am unable to choose the most outstanding. Just the day before we came to Magdeburg, our 397th Marauders had bombed it. As we drove through the ruins of the

No Parking On York Street

Motorists are urged to cooperate with the borough highway department and obey the police order forbidding the parking of motor vehicles on either side of York street, from center square to the bridge over York street, during the next two or three weeks.

The borough highway workers started work this morning filling in the holes that have been dug during the winter months by the Gettysburg Gas Corporation and the Gettysburg Water Company.

One-half of York street will be blocked to traffic while the working men fill in the holes in that section. The other half of the street will be kept open for through traffic, but not for parking. When half of the street is repaired, the crew will reverse the procedure.

After the borough workers complete their work the state highway department will resurface York street from the square to the bridge.

"No parking" notices were placed on York street Monday night and this morning police officials were forced to "ticket" a number of offenders.

The borough and police edict prohibiting parking on York street until the repair and resurfacing work is completed will be rigidly enforced.

MRS. BERGER IS INSTALLED AS VFW PRESIDENT

Mrs. Clyde D. Berger was elected and installed as president of the newly-organized Ladies' Auxiliary of Gettysburg Post 15, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at a meeting Monday evening at the Karas store on North Stratton street.

Other officers installed were: Second vice president, Mrs. Maude O. Myers; junior vice president, Anna Mary Weikert; secretary, Ethel Sanders; treasurer, Mrs. Merion Bushman; chaplain, Anna Galbraith; conductress, Louise Dickert; guard, Mrs. Zella Watson; trustees, Mrs. Ruth M. Harness, Mrs. Clarence Wright and Mrs. Samuel Swope.

The following officers were appointed: Patriotic instructor, Edith Weikert; historian, Mrs. Mary Kitzmiller; color bearers, Mrs. Mildred Kitzmiller, Mary Rife, Mrs. Loretta Newman and Doris Kitzmiller.

Twenty-six of the 50 members of the Auxiliary attended the meeting. The Auxiliary was instituted by Mrs. Josephine Pike.

Lions Meet At Woodlawn Park

Thirty-nine members and guests of the Gettysburg Lions club enjoyed an outing and meeting Monday evening at Woodlawn park, formerly Hershey's park, Lincolnway west, with horseshoes and softball furnishing amusement before the dinner and meeting. President J. Milton Bender and Vice President Glenn L. Bream presided.

The Rev. Nelson Fustman, of Camp Nawakwa, was the guest speaker and he showed 500 feet of film on "Children's Camp Life" in connection with his talk. Cloyd Shetter, a member of the club, arranged the program.

Guests included Lt. Noel Flynn, Pvt. Paul Dougherty and Dr. Robert Lefever. The Lions will meet at the same place next week.

A number of the officers of the local club expect to go to Harrisburg this afternoon for the convention of the clubs of District 14C which will take the place of the regular state convention. The Penn-Harris hotel is headquarters for the afternoon and evening meetings.

50 Persons Join Hospital Auxiliary

Only routine business was transacted at the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Warner hospital held Monday afternoon in the Nurses' home. Mrs. Raymond Sheely, president, presided.

Fifty additional new members were reported enrolled as the result of the membership drive.

It was reported the Gettysburg chapter of the Order of Eastern Star will sponsor a room at the hospital. It was also reported that $87 was cleared at the card party held June 3 in charge of Mrs. R. D. Wick-erham.

There will be no meeting of the auxiliary until September.

SOLDIER ROTH IS OPPOSED TO "PEACE DRAFT"

Compulsory military training in peace time is a much debated question. Congress will decide. General Eisenhower and General Marshall are in favor of the plan. Some members of Congress favor it. Some oppose it.

The Gettysburg Times asked Pfc. G. Henry Roth, member of its editorial staff now on leave while serving in the armed forces, to express his opinion on the question. Pfc. Roth is at Camp Wheeler, Ga.

This is what he wrote about the peace time military service:

"In the first place France, Poland, Belgium, etc., all had compulsory military education prior to the present war. I recall military experts prior to 1940 saying France had the greatest army in the world with millions of trained men to call to the colors. Need I labor that point?"

"Having had some small experience with the training of troops—a statement with which possibly you can agree—I think the greatest delusion we can have is to believe that we can call men, who have been in the army a year and have then been out several years, trained troops.

"Take for example Joe Doaks, resident of Adams county, Pa. Joe is called up in his 18th year and spends his year in the army. To begin with Joe thinks the whole matter a joke. There's no war going on. Joe is 18 and knows all there is in the world, the army can't do anything to him anyway if he doesn't learn—so Joe wastes his year in the army. How do I know Joe feels like this—well, the 18-year-old Doaks boys for the most part feel that way now while there is a war going on.

Physical Improvement

"Joe ends his year as Pvt. Joe Doaks and goes home in a little better physical condition than when he joined, a splendid knowledge of tricks to employ in order to get out of work, and a confused memory of how to do flanking movements in close order drill.

"America looks upon Joe as a thoroughly trained man and Joe, his old man, his mother, sister Julie and even Aunt Mamie are content—there are millions of fine, trained young flower of a nation's youth, like Joe, ready and available if trouble starts.

"When the need comes, as it frequently does in international as well as domestic relations, for consideration and compromise what happens? Joe's second cousin once removed, who is a congressman because the electorate was blind and deaf as well as dumb, rises in the House.

"Congressman Doaks addresses a hushed assembly: 'There are 10,000,000 stalwart, well-trained youths, the pride of a nation, ready to rise overnight to defend their nation's sovereignty and honor,' says the congressman, 'we will not tolerate this gross insult to our fair nation.' The next morning the Doaks family reads what the congressman said and the entire family nods its head in agreement—have they not their Joe as evidence, is he not well trained, well qualified, is he not ready? And poor Joe, who has been training in bar rooms and taverns these last five years springs heavily to his feet, pushes his paunch back by tightening his belt, looks widely about and says, 'bring on the enemy I can lick him any Wednesday before breakfast.' He seems to recall faintly that someone made that statement before but he can't quite recall that the speaker was an American admiral and the enemy to which he was referring was Japan. The admiral, by

Home After 2 Years As German Prisoner

Pfc. Paul Kuhn, 35, son of Mrs. Clara Kuhn, New Oxford, returned to his home Saturday after having been a prisoner of the Germans for over two years.

Kuhn was reported as missing on February 17, 1943, when he was serving in North Africa. His mother received notice in June of that year that he had been taken prisoner.

Before entering the service in June, 1941, Kuhn was employed by the Beaudin Shoe company, Hanover.

Father Sells Million Dollars In Bonds As Memorial For Son

Washington, June 26 (AP)—An official of the Maritime commission has sold personally nearly a million dollars worth of war bonds in one month as a memorial to his son, killed on Iwo Jima.

The treasury's war finance division told the story today as the nation's total sales in the 7th War Loan reached $20,250,000,000 and appeared headed for a new record.

The bond-selling official is Howard L. Grimm, from Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo. A marine in the first World War, he fought in 26 engagements against the Germans.

His son, Howard George Grimm, enlisted in the Marines at 17, after telling his father in a letter he wanted to enlist more than anything he had ever wanted in his life.

Two years later, on February 24 of this year, young Grimm, a private first class, fell in battle. His father, an administrative official in charge of certain critical items for merchant ship construction, applied for permission to represent the treasury in the 7th War Loan. He made all his sales by personal letter, written at home. Starting June 2, he sent the letters to friends and acquaintances all over the country, telling them he was doing it in memory of his son.

His sales, the treasury said, had reached $991,525 by yesterday and were still going up.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said yesterday it appears that 7th War Loan sales will beat the record of $21,621,000,000 in the 6th war loan. He also announced that individual sales have reached $6,595,000,000 thus topping the previous record for individual sales of $6,351,000,000 in the 5th war loan.

Of the individual sales figure, Series E bond sales are $2,935,000,000 or 73 per cent of the $4,000,000,000 E-bond quota.

Young Sailor Is Killed In Action At Sea

S 2-c Roger William Bowser, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Bowser, Fairfield R. I., was killed in action recently in the south Pacific according to a telegram received by his parents from the Navy Department on Sunday. He had been in service eight months.

No details were included in the telegram. Bowser was stationed aboard a seaplane tender. The youthful sailor entered the service October 26, 1944, and trained at Bainbridge, Md. Later he was sent to Shoe-maker, Calif., and from there went overseas in February of this year.

Bowser attended school in Hagerstown before entering the service. The Bowser family moved to their present home in March, 1944.

In addition to his parents, Seaman Bowser is survived by two brothers, Russell and Richard, and two sisters, Betsy and Jane, all at home.

CHURCHES AND LODGES EXEMPT FROM NEW LAW

Some misunderstanding prevails among food establishment proprietors relative to their status under the new state license law, according to William I. Shields, county health officer.

A complete explanation of the license fee and licensing features, showing those who are exempt, is presented as follows:

License Fee

(a) The fee of one dollar will be collected at the time license is issued and not when application for license is made. In cities, boroughs and first class townships it will be collected by the board of health and will be paid over to the municipal treasury by the board when and at such intervals as may be agreed upon by the board and treasurer. It will be collected by the Bureau of Health Conservation, State Department of Health, for all licenses issued outside cities, boroughs and first class townships.

(b) Application-for-license forms must be uniform throughout the state and will be furnished by city, borough and first class township boards of health on the basis of a sample form furnished by the state Department of Health.

Licensing

(a) Lodges and clubs serving only their members and such guests as members may from time to time introduce, churches or other organizations serving occasional suppers

Tokyo Reports New Invasion

London, June 26 (AP)—The All-India radio said a Japanese broadcast heard there today reported that Allied forces were attempting an invasion of an island half-way between Okinawa and the Japanese main islands.

The island being invaded was not identified in the broadcast heard in India.

Amami Guntō, Amami Oshima, Togara Guntō and Yaku Shima all are in the approximate location, however.

(CBS said the London radio reported hearing another Tokyo broadcast announce that "an Allied invasion fleet of 200 ships is expected to attempt landings on two islands about half way between Okinawa and Japan.")

Amami Guntō is about 300 miles south of Kyushu, southernmost of the main Japanese islands. Yaku Shima is less than 100 miles south of Japan's shores while Amami Oshima and Togara Guntō are between Amagi Guntō and Yaku Shima.

CHILD LABOR IS CALLED "BLACK MARKET" SHIELD

A child labor clinic, sponsored by the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce Monday night heard child labor described as the "black market" of industry by Frank J. G. Dorsey, regional director, Wage-Hour and Public Contracts Division of the U. S. Department of Labor, as part of a discussion of the employment of minors during the summer vacation period. The meeting was held in the court house.

Mrs. Valda Lyons Noll, child labor consultant of the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor, explained federal regulations and rules for the protection of the employer as well as the minor employee.

Jonas Wagner, advisor on Child Accounting and Research for the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction, explained the certification of minors for employment and the details of certification cards.

Outline Laws

Pennsylvania's laws on child labor were outlined by Mrs. Anna Hoffer of the Bureau of Women and Children, Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry, who advised all employers to have on file at all times the employment and age certificates for minors in their employ and to have copies of the state's child labor laws and such posters as are required posted in conspicuous places in their plants and stores.

Following these talks specific questions by employers of Gettysburg and Adams county concerning the employment of minors were asked by the audience of approximately 25 interested persons.

Among those who attended were: Thomas Smith, Assistant County Superintendent of Schools for Franklin county and Dr. Robert Bagshaw, Hanover Superintendent of Schools.

Property Transfers

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Dull, Menallen township, sold a tract of land amounting to two acres in that community to Mr. and Mrs. Warren T. Dunn, Biglerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Charles McMaster, McSherrystown, sold a lot there to Mrs. Annie M. Gallagher of the same borough.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude E. Smith, Latimore township, sold 2 lots there to Mr. and Mrs. George R. Weigle, of Latimore township.

Weather Forecast

Cloudy and cooler but continued humid with probable rain early tonight. Wednesday fair with moderate temperature.

Manila, June 26 (AP)—Fifth Air Force fighter and attack bombers, flying at least 300 sorties a day over Northern Luzon, ripped and ravaged Japanese making their last stand in the Upper Cagayan valley today as Americans and Filipinos closed in for the kill.

Strafing roads and bombing concentrations of enemy troops and supplies wherever found, the Lightnings, Mustangs and Thunderbolts gave their most striking examples of effectiveness in "Death Valley." There the 33rd Division's 130th Infantry Regiment, pushing east along the Balud river, northeast of Baguio, found Japanese bodies, fragments of vehicles and shattered supply dumps littering the valley slopes for eight miles between Bokod and Ambulcaio.

Survivors Are Dazed

The carnage resulted from repeated aerial attacks and artillery pounding by 240 millimeter howitzers.

Dozens of the enemy's Toyota and Nissan trucks were blown sky high by direct hits. Food and munitions dumps were blasted while the American doughboys still were miles away. When they finally entered the valley they found survivors of the Japanese division dazed, starving and unable to offer worthwhile resistance.

Japanese were taking a similar beating from the air near guerrilla-defended Tuguegarao, Cagayan provincial capital. The enemy was fighting a fanatical battle to regain the ruined town despite the approach of the 37th Division, last reported within four miles.

Disintegration of Japanese forces elsewhere on Luzon was emphasized by the First Cavalry Division's report that more than 300 Formosan service and garrison troops had been conducted into American lines in a single week by one Formosan prisoner of war.

The 37th Division, within four miles of Tuguegarao, must cross the Pinacanao river before it can enter the town. Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters was silent on progress of the 11th Airborne Division and 6th Army units driving south from Aparri.

Amphibious Hop

MacArthur announced today that elements of the 25th Division had made an unopposed 40-mile amphibious hop June 10 to land at Baler bay, birthplace of the late President Manuel Quezon. The landing added another check on disorganized Japanese in Southern Luzon who were trying to reach the Upper Cagayan valley for a last united stand.

On Mindanao, two American columns were within 28 miles of a junction in their clean-up campaign. More than 100 Marine dive bombers and Mitchells hammered the enemy's escape route for the second day.

Slaughter of the enemy continued elsewhere in the Pacific. Australian ground forces reported killing an additional 1,128 on New Guinea, Bougainville and New Britain, bringing enemy casualties there since January 1 to a total of 9,725 dead and 226 captured.

10 Giant Japanese War Plants Are Lambasted By Big Superfortresses

By LEIF ERICKSON

Guam, June 26 (AP)—Ten aircraft, gun and ammunition factories on Japan's main island of Honshu were smashed with more than 3,000 tons of high-explosive bombs from 450 to 500 Superfortresses at noon today.

Roaring in at medium altitudes about noon (Japanese time) with an escort of Mustang fighters from Iwo Jima, the Superfortresses dealt their most powerful blow to date in their new campaign to erase Japanese industry with precision demolition bombing.

Some targets were hit visually but others required the use of instruments through cloud cover.

The targets were two airplane plants and three ammunition and ordnance works in the Nagoya area; two airplane plants at Kagamigahara, near Gifu, 20 miles north of Nagoya; the Japanese Army's largest arsenal and the country's largest propeller factory, both at Osaka; and an aircraft plant at Akashi, ten miles west of Kobe.

All Previously Hit

All had been hit previously, either with high explosives or in the recent fire-bombing campaign which burned out an estimated 112 square miles of Japanese industrial areas.

The raid, second in five days, was against the second-largest number of targets ever chosen for any one

B-29 mission.

RED PARTY OF REICH FAVORS ANTI-FASCISTS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The question of Germany's future form of government—one of the great (and dangerous) problems in the regeneration of the Reich—already has been thrust to the fore by the German Communist party, which Herr Hitler and Gestapo Chief Himmler tried unsuccessfully to kill.

The Communists, having survived as a hunted underground organization throughout the Nazi regime, have now registered as a legal party in Berlin. They state in a manifesto that they don't favor a Soviet system for Germany at present but instead an anti-Fascist regime within a Democratic parliamentary Republic—Coalition government friendly to Russia.

At first blush this failure to go all-out for a Soviet may seem surprising. However, further consideration brings one to the conclusion that the communists are proceeding with discretion along a logical line which they indicate in their manifesto when they say that a Soviet system in the Reich "does not correspond with the development of Germany at the present moment."

What About Republic?

But what about the suggested "Democratic Parliamentary Republic"? It's interesting to see that proposal crop up now in view of the mournful failure of the Weimar Republic which preceded the Hitler dictatorship. Of course, that Republic never did have a fair chance, because of international politics in Europe, but there are many who maintain that the German mentality isn't suited to the Democratic form of government.

The mentality of a nation can be changed but certainly up to the present the Germans have shown clearly that they not only respond well to regimentation, but that they love to goose-step. Hitler demonstrated that thoroughly enough in the way he made them click their heels and "heil." All in all, it strikes me we are justified in concluding that right now the people of the Reich aren't qualified to govern themselves—and the probabilities are that most of them don't want to. They prefer to be governed.

What About Monarchy?

In view of all this it isn't strange that there should be some discussion of the advisability of reviving the monarchy which went out with the abdication of Kaiser Wilhelm at the end of the last World War. The Kaiser ruled by "divine right" and satisfied the yearning of his people to have someone do their political thinking for them so that they could be free to enjoy their sedels in the beer halls after the day's work.

Should there be an effort to restore the monarchy, the outstanding candidate for the throne would seem to be Prince Louis Ferdinand Hohenzollern, the 37-year-old grandson of the late Kaiser, Prince Louis is next in line for the Hohenzollern crown, since his father, Crown Prince Wilhelm, abdicated his rights. Whether the Allies would stand for any restoration of this dynasty is, of course, open to question.

Prince Weds Princess

Prince Louis Ferdinand is a surprising young man—for a Hohenzollern. He is friendly and so democratic in his views that back in the thirties he spent considerable time working as a mechanic in the Ford plant in Detroit to learn the automobile business. He's one of those chaps who packs his own grip, and carries it, too—even to you and I.

The Prince married the Russian Grand Duchess Kira Kirillovna, and they have five children. They've been living quietly at Bad Kissingen, Germany. Prince Louis stated a few days ago that in 1938 he served as messenger to the German government in a confidential move by the late President Roosevelt to preserve peace.

17 BUDGETS ARE APPROVED

The Adams county board of school directors at a meeting in the office of the county superintendent of schools, Monday night, approved the budgets of 17 school districts.

The budgets approved were: Abbotstown, Arendtsville borough, Arendtsville vocational, Berwick, Biglerville, Cumberland, Freedom, Germany, Hamilton, Highland, Latimer, Littlestown, Menallen, Mt. Joy, Oxford, Tyrone and York Springs.

The board also discussed the county school transportation system in connection with the issuance of contracts for school bus service.

Chester B. Worley, president of the board presented, and the following were present: L. E. Jacobs, 1st vice president; R. M. Baugher, 2nd vice president; C. J. Waybright, secretary; Z. R. Peters, treasurer; J. Floyd Slaybaugh, county superintendent of schools and Robert Bream, assistant superintendent of schools.

News Collected At Random

The pests of Gettysburg are back again... the mosquitoes. Many believed they were given a knock-out punch during the recent cold days, but it takes more than a little cold weather in springtime to bounce them out of existence. They moved in on their usual haunts, and that happens to be all over town, in all their glory during recent days and it seems they are here to stay... at least for this season.

Thus far no effort has been made to eliminate them. Their breeding haunts go unmolested even though the famous bug killer, DDT, has been released for civilian use this year.

"What about Gettysburg's beautiful center plot in the square? Isn't it going to be given any attention this year?" writes a citizen who signs himself "An Irate Taxpayer." "It is overrun with weeds, it needs trimming and a general cleaning out. Can't you do something about it?"

Dear Irate Taxpayer: The center plot in the square is one of the responsibilities of the town council. Contact the councilman in your ward.

"The farm is still the broad enduring base upon which the entire United States economy rests," says Fortune magazine for June. In its farm column the magazine describes some of the revolutionary processes and problems that farmers face, including scientific seeding by airplane, greater use of machinery to maintain production with fewer people than ever before, and legislative questions that are becoming most complicated. The farmer is helpless to make himself heard except through concerted action. In the meantime, he feeds the world.

In an appeal to passenger car owners to save their cars, Col. J. Monroe Johnson, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, today warned that it will be at least three years before many millions of private car owners and prospective car owners who want new automobiles will be able to get them.

Colonel Johnson said this fact "has not been generally realized in the first rosy flush of enthusiasm over the limited resumption of passenger car production." Although it is expected that 240,000 passenger cars will be built this year, Colonel Johnson commented that this number will replace less than one per cent of the nation's automobiles.

Four hundred fifty thousand cars are scheduled for production during the first quarter of 1946 and a ceiling of 2,146,000 cars has been set on passenger car production for the period of July 1945 to June 1946, he added.

"Months will elapse before the first automobile company gets into production and there is no assurance that the materials needed to make new cars actually will be available," the ODT director said.

"The new car quota for the year ahead is only a drop in the bucket compared with the pent-up needs of a nation which has been losing cars to the scrap heaps at the rate of about 4,000 a day since Pearl Harbor.

"None of the cars produced in the near future will go to the average driver. They'll go instead, to the most essential drivers—doctors, police, taxi drivers, war workers and others. And they will be short—of meeting the need in these fields."

Police Chief Will Serve Red Cross

Chief of Police Harold S. Roberts, Littlestown, has volunteered and been accepted as field director with American Red Cross. He has offered to serve in a combat area on foreign soil. He will report to the American university, Washington, D. C., on July 9, to receive his preliminary training.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts are enjoying a two weeks' vacation prior to his leaving. He has asked the Littlestown borough council to grant him a leave of absence while he is in the service of the Red Cross. Chief of Police Roberts, who was formerly a state patrolman, went to Littlestown eleven years ago, following the resignation of L. V. Bomgardner, who had resigned to take a position with the state liquor control board. Chief of Police Roberts has made a host of friends who regret to see him leave. During the officer's two weeks' vacation, the assistant officer, Bernard Dillman, will be in charge of the police duties there.

Okay Collective Trial For Boche

London, June 26 (AP)—The United States plan for the collective trial of Germany's major war criminals before a military tribunal was expected to receive quick approval by a four-power conference which opened today in London.

After meeting behind closed doors the representatives of Britain, the United States, Russia and France issued a communique stating that an "agreement was reached as to the urgency of completing the work as soon as possible."

MEET IN FRANCE

Cpl. John R. Witherow, Gettysburg R. D., now stationed at Rheims, France, recently met his uncle, Lt. Crawford C. Witherow, also of Gettysburg, who is stationed near Rheims. Cpl. Witherow has been overseas since September, 1943, while Lt. Witherow went overseas in October, 1944.

Guam, June 26 (AP)—Interpreters and Japanese prisoner-volunteers today aided the Tenth Army search of Okinawa's caves, canyons, brush-covered hills and valleys for remnants of the Japanese garrison, urging their surrender.

Mopping up operations had brought in 794 more enemy prisoners making the total 8,696. Patrols continued their thus-far futile search for Americans listed as missing in the Okinawa campaign. No trace of their bodies has been found. Japan's hard-pressed air force harassed the American garrison Sunday with four small-scale attacks, causing "minor damage" to airfield installations, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz acknowledged. His communique made no mention of any blows against American ships offshore.

The Japanese Domei Agency said "furious attacks" against Allied shipping in Okinawa waters and air bases were maintained by warplanes of Nippon through last night and this morning but made no claims of additional damage.

The enemy report, unconfirmed elsewhere, asserted that the number of land-based American planes on Okinawa had increased, and that an invasion task force of more than 200 surface craft, including three battleships, still lay off the Kerama Islands west of Okinawa.

Philadelphia, June 26 (AP)—Peter Campanaro, 45, Newtown, Pa., was convicted in federal court yesterday on charges of possessing 50 counterfeit $5 bills. Judge Guy K. Bard deferred sentence pending disposition of an appeal for a new trial and held Campanaro in $2,500 bail.

CLUB PRESIDENT IS INSTALLED

James S. Cairnes was installed as president of the Gettysburg Rotary club at its regular meeting Monday night at the YWCA before forty members and guests.

The retiring president, Walter Africa, reviewed the accomplishments of the past year, emphasizing the contributions of the Rotary International Foundation and War Relief fund, sponsoring a room at the Warner hospital, contributions to the Gettysburg Youth Center, Boy Scouts and providing the Rotarian magazine to high schools in Gettysburg and Adams county and to Gettysburg college and Theological seminary.

The club cooperated with the Lions club in the drive for clothing for the needy in Europe. Mr. Africa said and a wide variety of programs was enjoyed by the members during the year. Also of interest was the series of exchange programs with the clubs of York, Hanover, Littlestown and Hampstead.

Edmund W. Thomas presented a "past-president's pin" to the retiring president Walter Africa, and spoke of the great need of making every effort to reach the goal set for the sale of E-bonds in the county during the seventh war loan drive.

Visitors at the meeting were Ernest Dunbar, of the Littlestown Rotary club and William A. Gill, of Alexandria, Va., the guest of Franklin Bigham, Esq.

Truckers' Strike Closes Newspaper

Pittsburgh, June 26 (AP)—Asserting "further efforts to publish are obviously futile," officials of the Pittsburgh Press announced yesterday the paper would suspend publication for the duration of a truck drivers' walkout which began Saturday night.

E. T. Leech, editor, and Frank G. Morrison, business manager, said in a statement the drivers "struck without warning" and that Local 211 of the AFL-Newsprint Drivers' Union "demanded a separate contract with the Press covering matters already in negotiation between three Pittsburgh papers and the union."

Lost Navy Trainer Plane Reported Safe

Harrisburg, June 26 (AP)—A navy trainer plane unreported for 20 hours was located today at Penn Yan, N. Y., the nearby New Cumberland Naval Air facility announced.

A spokesman said the plane, carrying a pilot and one passenger, landed safely at Penn Yan in Yates county at 2:05 p. m. yesterday, five minutes before it was due at Geneva, N. Y., on a flight from Harrisburg. He added "the pilot failed to report in."

PRESIDENT TO CLOSE WORLD PARLEY TODAY

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
San Francisco, June 26 (AP)—President Truman, pleased with the handwork of sculptors of a future league designed to keep peace, fashioned an appeal today for its support by all men of good will.

Accompanied by thousands upon his arrival to address the closing session of the United Nations conference which drafted a formula intended to stop aggression before it gets started, the gray-haired Chief Executive said:

"It wasn't for me. It was for what we stand. It was for the President of the United States. They were cheering the office, not the man."

He spoke these words at a formal reception last night for all the delegates from the 50 nations who labored for nine weeks upon the basic charter of an international organization devoted to the preservation of peace, with force as a final weapon.

May Address Senate
The reception, in the rose room of the Fairmont hotel, where the President moved into a fifth floor suite, climaxed a historic day for Mr. Truman, whose 1944 political theme song, "The Missouri Waltz," topped the music menus at both his diplomatic welcome and his top-honor military reception at Hamilton Field.

He flew here from a Pacific northwest vacation to bring the historic security conference to a close with an address at about 5 p. m. (Pacific War Time) after witnessing the signing of the charter by the American and many other delegations.

There was speculation that he will make a personal appearance before the Senate when he submits the charter for its ratification next Monday after homecoming celebrations at Independence, Mo., Wednesday, and Kansas City, Thursday. He has urged its immediate ratification, although few were convinced such action could be accomplished in advance of his forthcoming meeting with Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill near Berlin in mid-July.

In China

By SPENCER MOOSA
Chungking, June 26 (AP)—In a new spurt from the northwest, Chinese forces have captured a point three miles from Luichow, the Chinese command said today as other forces still battled Japanese troops holding an airfield an equal distance south of the city.

Troops moving in one the former U. S. 14th Air Force base city from the north captured Tapucheng, eight miles north of Luichow, and other units engaged enemy forces in the suburbs of Liecheng, 11 miles northwest of the city. Still other Chinese forces crossed the Lu river northwest of Luichow and are operating on the east bank, the Chinese said. The point captured three miles northwest of Luichow was not identified.

On the China coast, nearly 800 miles away from the Luichow fighting, Chinese forces engaged enemy troops retreating from Wenchow as they approached Linhai (Taichow) in Chekiang province, some 65 miles from Wenchow.

Fighting continued in southwestern Kiangsi province, where the Japanese have been trying to smash a potential Chinese counter offensive, safeguard the approaches to Hongkong and Canton and strengthen the east flank of the Hankow-Hongkong corridor.

Chinese troops made a sortie into Lungnan, 140 miles northeast of Canton, and inflicted "heavy casualties" on the enemy, the high command said. Fighting was reported still in progress in the Lungnan vicinity.

Lt. Ernest Brindle Back From Overseas

First Lieut. Ernest W. Brindle, Jr., an 8th Air Force navigator on a B-24 Liberator bomber, arrived Sunday evening to spend a thirty-day leave with his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Ernest W. Brindle, of Biglerville.

Lt. Brindle, a graduate of Gettysburg high school, has completed thirty missions, holds the Air Medal, three clusters, the Distinguished Flying Cross and four battle stars. He went overseas in July, 1944.

He arrived from overseas last Wednesday at Bradley Field, Conn.

A daughter was also born to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Myers, Westminister R. 1, at the hospital this morning.

Polish Exiles Are Opposing Agreement

London, June 26 (AP)—The Polish exile government in London was reported today to have handed Britain and the United States a formal note protesting against the agreement for formation of a new Polish Provisional government, recently announced in Moscow.

Authoritative sources said the exile government had taken the position it would refuse to recognize the legality of the proposed new government.

One spokesman for the London group, who declined to permit use of his name, said the new regime would be "a poor specimen of a puppet government and nothing else."

80,000 MADE IDLE THROUGH STRIKES IN U.S.

(By the Associated Press)
A bright ray broke through dark clouds of unrest along the nation's labor-troubled front today.

A threat of a strike of thousands of workers in the heavy industrial area of Detroit was lifted, at least temporarily.

In Chicago, the government's promise to break a strike of truck drivers after it seized 1,700 lines 10 days ago appeared near fulfillment.

In Columbus, a CIO official said he expected "an early end" of the strike of 15,000 glass workers in 10 plants in six states. Six Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., and four Libbey-Owens-Ford plants are affected.

80,000 Are Idle
But there remained scores of disputes apparently no nearer settlement. The latest count of men and women staying away from their jobs over labor controversies approximated 80,000. The total included more than 39,000 in Detroit.

Immediate danger of a widespread walkout in some 300 Detroit factories was averted last night by action of CIO union officials who tabled a proposal to call a strike for some 38,000 organized maintenance men. About 1,500 of the 39,000 idle auto workers in Detroit were CIO maintenance men.

Rival AFL-CIO unionists planned today to resume efforts to settle the jurisdictional dispute which has kept idle the auto workers, including 22,000 at the Packard Motor Co., and 7,500 at Budd Wheel. A second conference of the rival unionists in Washington with the Department of Labor was projected in an attempt to settle the dispute over reconversion jobs in the auto industry.

Called "Vicious"
Harry Bennett, Ford Motor company official, termed strikes by 5,500 Ford workers as "vicious and planned work stoppages that show complete disregard of the UAW-CIO-Ford contract." Other stoppages in Detroit affected 650 at Hudson Motor Car Co.; 975 at the Aeronautical Products Corp.; 500 at the Stinson Aircraft plant, and 700 in 12 yards of five retail lumber companies.

Officials of the Independent Chicago Truck Drivers' union directed 6,000 members to go back to their jobs today, to join the estimated 98 per cent of the 8,000 members of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters who had returned. Trucking operations, said Office of Defense Transportation officials in charge, were more near to normal than any day since the start of the strike which followed a War Labor Board wage-hour decision.

CHURCHILL IS BOOED, CHEERED

Coventry, June 26 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, tired-looking but still sharp-tongued, continued his 1,000-mile electioneering tour today after taking cheers and boos with equal unconcern in the first day of his intensive campaign on behalf of the Conservative party.

Led by a police escort and bowing and smiling from an open touring car, Churchill praised the United States, insisted upon friendly relations with Russia and lunged taunts at his political enemies in numerous brief speeches yesterday.

"You haven't much chance against me with my microphone," he told laborites at Coventry who sought to drown him out with their party song, "Red Flag," then, as they tried to tear down the amplifying system, Churchill joked:

"You look so angry. I never get angry at politics."

Police estimated that 20,000 persons were crowded into the square of the bomb-damaged industrial town.

The prime minister told rural crowds that he didn't like to refer to the enemy in the Pacific as "Japs" because that term was "too familiar." He reminded his listeners that there was a fight still ahead.

"The United States stood by us in noble fashion," he declared. "We must stand by them."

SOLDIER ROTH

the way, must be getting mighty hungry by now.
Get a Beating
"So off we go and our well trained troops take a terrific beating and nobody can understand why.

"Just as an example of why the training of troops in advance of war is useless, consider the present war—who, trained in, let us say, 1930, would be able to enter our army today, and without being retrained, be able to use the new weapons that have been developed or understand the new tactical organizations? Many things have changed two or three times in the 11 months I've been in the army. I've had to undergo continuous training in order to keep up with new developments. If there can be so many changes in less than a year what would occur in five or 10 years?"

"Thus Joe Doaks would have to be physically reconditioned, retrained in weapons and tactics if he is to be of use to the army and thus it would still take as long to retrain him as it would to train a brand new recruit.

"So, for my money, the nation would be far better off spending $1,000,000 a year for better relations between nations than spending $10,000,000, or some comparable sum, pretending to give military education to everybody.

Implies a Fight
"And while we're on the subject—compulsory military education implies that eventually we are going to fight someone. If so who are we going to fight—the Germans? The Japs? If we have to fight them then someone will have to make some very obvious mistakes after the war. The British? The Russians? If anyone can give me one reason why the U. S. will ever have to fight the British or Russians then my only answer would be—fight them now and get it over with while the army and navy are still at their peak. And, honestly, there is absolutely no reason why Britain, Russia and the U. S. should fight except for the stupidity of people who think that they should.

"Just as a side remark on the Russian situation. Sometimes one wonders why the Reds are hard to get along with at times. Well, most of the trouble occurred after a certain U. S. senator went to Italy and in an address to troops there asked the G.I.'s whether they were ready for the war with Russia? Can you imagine what would happen if the situation were reversed and a high Russian government official asked Russian troops if they were ready to fight the U. S.? Every American would be crying for vengeance—and it is to the credit of the Russians that they took into consideration that the donkeys must bray, and some on occasions get elected to the senate. Just as a side note—the senator when the soldiers protested against his smug assertion that we should fight the Russians, immediately issued a statement that the soldiers who protested were Communists. If they were Communists in repudiating and protesting such an irresponsible and highly dangerous speech, then, brother, my name is Stalin and I'm one of the most crims of the Reds."

Bridgeport, Conn., June 26 (AP)—Simon Lake, the man who developed the modern submarine and was pained to see it become a weapon of war and destruction, is dead. The 79-year-old inventor, who kept working in his little laboratory at Milford although long in failing health, entered a hospital here a week ago because of a heart condition and died Saturday night.

Costa Rica is primarily an agricultural country.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 26 (AP)—Articles in Anglo-Jewish newspapers inferring that Jewish chaplains are brooding over their future and are anxious to return to civilian life were termed "unfair and quite untrue" yesterday by Rabbi Solomon B. Freehof, of Pittsburgh, president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis.

JAP PREMIER IS WORRYING OVER INVASION

San Francisco, June 26 (AP)—Premier Kantaro Suzuki told the Japanese people today they faced an invasion crisis unparalleled since the Mongol hordes swept over the islands more than 600 years ago.

In a cabinet message issued to the nation "on the occasion of the Okinawa battle" Suzuki pledged his government's "grim determination" to defend the islands against the American power gathering to the south.

The 77-year-old premier declared bluntly that the present crisis facing Japan "is the greatest one since the Mongolian invasion" of 1274 A. D. and added: "Now is the time to decide the destiny of the Japanese empire."

"At this time of national crisis I request the entire nation to endure mounting hardships and difficulties with utmost perseverance and with the defiance of death characteristic of the Japanese," he said.

Other Invasion Rumors
His statement, distributed by the Japanese Domei agency and recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, was made as other enemy broadcasts told of invasion and threats of invasion in other parts of the empire, once swollen by the conquests of 1942.

Radio Tokyo said that "some 30-odd enemy surface units, including cruisers and destroyers, now are bombarding Balikpapan," said refueling center for eastern Borneo's oil fields.

A Domei broadcast said that unidentified Allied units had landed on the small island of Ternate, about 350 miles southeast of the southern tip of the Philippines.

If true, this would clamp a pincer on the nearby enemy-held island of Halmahera, since American forces already have occupied Morotai island to the northeast in the drive north to the Philippines.

The Japanese, who previously had claimed that landing attempts in the Balikpapan area had been repulsed, began all over again and said that it appeared now an invasion was impending.

Philadelphia, June 26 (AP)—Hog Island terminal, the army's 950 acre cargo port of embarkation, will close next Saturday, Col. Alex B. McNabb, port commander, said yesterday. Pending Pacific developments, the yard will be manned only by guards and maintenance men. More than 1,000 employees will be released, Col. McNabb said. The Newark, (Del.), holding yard also will be closed, he added.

Seranton, Pa., June 26 (AP)—Seranton Transit company officials and leaders of Local 168, Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees, AFL, announced last night they have concluded a contract after three days of negotiation.

New York, June 26 (AP)—John Foster Dulles, advisor to the American delegation to the San Francisco United Nations Conference, said today that the parley "gave birth to an instrument which can be a Magna Charta for the world."

Philadelphia, June 26 (AP)—Racial, religious and national harmony on the home front is "a fundamental part of making a lasting peace," Earl G. Harrison, newly appointed dean of the University of Pennsylvania law school, told the Philadelphia Fellowship commission yesterday.

Says England Was Finished In 1941

Wesbaden, Germany, June 26 (AP)—Field Marshal Montgomery told a group of American officers and enlisted men today that Britain was finished in 1941 and could not possibly have survived without American aid.

"I admit it," Montgomery said. "We were finished and you came along and gave us a helping hand." These remarks climaxed a ceremony in which 100 American officers and enlisted men received the Distinguished Service Order, the military medal and the military cross from Montgomery's hand.

PITT WELCOMES YANKEE HEROES

Pittsburgh, June 26 (AP)—Laughter and tears, parades and speeches, banquets and blistering hot weather welcomed 64 heroes home from the European fighting front yesterday. Now it is all over and everybody is tired but happy.

Some 100,000 folks lined a 23-mile parade route from the airport to town and cheered themselves hoarse, giving their plaudits impartially to General and GI.

First to step down from the big C-54 transport planes which carried them on a 4,000 mile flight from Germany, Gen. Joseph C. McNarney, native of Emporium, Pa., commander of American forces in the Mediterranean, was greeted with a dish of American ice cream, his first in eight months. He ate it and said he yearned for a lamb chop and some peach shortcake.

Slogan Peace

A multitude of folk gathered at the city-county building on historic Grant's Hill and heard Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commander of the Sixth Army group, introduced as a "Pennsylvania Dutchman from York." Devers praised the home front for its part in the war effort and said "no greater welcome could have come to us."

Devers told the crowd: "I'm glad to be back where people speak one language, use one kind of money, and drive on the right side of the street—in fact, that's my slogan for world peace."

The crowd cheered when Lt. Gen. "Tex" Bill Simpson, whose Ninth Army took the Ruhr, declared he had grown tired of looking at "scowling German faces" and was glad "to see some American faces again."

STRIKES CADET; M.P. MAY FACE MILITARY TRIAL

Washington, June 26 (AP)—Military prosecution may face the military policeman who, Rep. Gavin (R-Pa.) said, struck an unnamed Pennsylvania air cadet so hard with a stick that fillings were knocked from his teeth, necessitating 16 days hospitalization.

Secretary of War Stimson was given full details of the incident, Gavin said, adding that the War department has assured him "proper disciplinary action will be taken."

Gavin described the beating to the house as follows:
The air cadet was sentenced to three months in the Lincoln, Neb., army air base guardhouse for standing with his hands in his pockets during morning formation. He was reported for not working fast enough and for talking to a guard. Again he was court martialed and sentenced to 24 hours on the rock pile.

Twice Knocked Down
After several hours of work there, the guard told him to work faster, "and he could not work any faster," Gavin said.

Upon the guard's order, he then stood at attention with a short-handled sledge at his side. "He was then smashed across the jaw with an M.P.'s club, which raised a welt on the left side of his face as big as a fist, x x x upon arising he was again knocked down and smashed into unconsciousness."

At Lincoln, Col. Herbert W. Anderson, commanding officer of the air field, said in a statement that an exhaustive investigation has been made during recent months as to any past irregularities in the treatment of prisoners at the field and that as a result, punitive action was instituted in the cases of several persons attached to the guard. He said he was unable to state whether the Pennsylvania air cadet was involved in these cases.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic aching, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

That is difficult to say.

She has features which recall
Both the families—one and all.

In her pretty, button nose
Something of her grandma shows.

She's the image of her dad.

They're her mother's lovely eyes!
It's my temper when she cries.

Today's Talk

NATURE'S LURE

I was thrilled this Springtime when I noted the return of one of my favorite birds—the wood thrush. The "liquid coolness" of its song is something almost divine. It was to the woodthrush that Thoreau wrote: "This bird never fails to speak to me out of an ether purer than that I breathe, of immortal beauty and vigor."

I have noted that in the wilder places, where human beings rarely come, the birds and animals seem less fearful. I have noted this on my isolated small summer island home. The birds there seem unusually friendly. Feeding them, and being around them, their fear diminishes. And it is such joy to listen to their various songs—between meals. They never seem to lose their happy inheritance.

We can learn so much from Nature. There is a lesson in every creation—in the leaves, the many varieties of flowers, the rocks, the hurrying rivers, the calmness of the stars at night, and the soothing of the gentle wind on a warm day. Walking over my mossy paths at Weskeweenaw I am reminded of my royal heritage—a child of the Creator of all this beauty and wonder.

When in my city home I sit on a rock, or stand at my doorway, and feed a half dozen or so grey squirrels. They welcome my presence for they know I have something for them—a generous allowance of peanuts. I make them beg a little. They stand on their hind legs and motion for me to throw the peanut their way. They are not as jealous as the small red squirrels, who refuse to let another of their kind come near to them when eating. They seem more friendly toward one another. And they seem gentler.

Few men have been so happy as was the late Jack Miner, who for so many years fed millions of wild fowl at his bird sanctuary near Kingsville, Ontario. They learned to love him, to know that he was their protector, so that even those who would become injured would fly to his place, where he would mend their broken legs or wings and set them free again. One of the truly great men of our time, was this Jack Miner, who saw in Nature, and in all of her creatures, something of the God-created love that man should adopt and respect.

We should see to it that we extract from Nature all the happiness possible, for it is a part of our eternal inheritance.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Pain's Challenge."

College Days Are Over: Class Exercises:

The class exercises were held on the campus at five-thirty Wednesday evening. H. E. Clare was master of ceremonies. . . . The class prophecy was given by S. C. Burger. At the business meeting of the Alumni Association Edward McPherson was re-elected President; Charles S. Duncan, Vice President; Prof. John A. Himes, Secretary; and H. C. Picking, Treasurer.

Commencement Exercises

The graduating exercises were held in the chapel Thursday morning in the presence of a large audience. . . . Second honor was conferred by President McKnight upon nine graduates, among whom was Nathaniel C. Barbehenn, of Gettysburg.

Henry Wolf Bikle, of Gettysburg, was awarded the Baum Sophomore Mathematical Prize.

The Muhlenberg Freshman Prize was awarded to three students, among whom was Edmund W. Meisner, of York.

The degree of D.D. was conferred upon the Revs. John Wagner, of Hazleton, Penn.; Prof. Francis V. N. Painter, of Roanoke College, Salem, Virginia; and William F. Eyster, Nebraska.

Among the graduates—Nathaniel Charles Barbehenn, Gettysburg; Charles Henry Brosius, Ashland; Sylvester Clark Burger, Quincy; Wilmer Alvah Hartman, Arendtsville; and Abraham Rife Longenecker, Mummastown.

The festivities of the week were concluded by Dr. McKnight's reception held Thursday evening. A large number of persons were present and spent a delightful evening.

Personal Mention: Henry S. Benner, of Gettysburg, has been awarded an original pension.

Dr. George D. Stanley and wife and Miss Young have gone to Easton for the vacation.

Dr. J. C. Felty, of Trenton, N. J., is visiting his many friends in town.

Charles K. Yeager, Esq., of Pittsburgh, intends to make New Oxford his future home. Mr. Yeager's wife was Miss Nan Clippinger, of that place.

The old pastor, the Rev. Mr. Coles, is now in York.

Rev. Mrs. Folk, of Arendtsville, is visiting Mrs. E. M. Wolf, York street.

The Circus: Sands and Astley's circus had with it a most disreputable crowd of swindlers, gamblers and black-legs that can be imagined. The shell game and other gambling devices were openly played, and many of the unwary were entrapped for large sums. Frank Strausbaugh, of Hamilton township, lost $120 which he claims was taken from his pocketbook. He made information before Squire Walter and had one man arrested. The case was settled by refunding $100.

BIG WARSHIP PENNSYLVANIA AT SEA AGAIN

San Francisco, June 26 (AP)—The time and war worn old battleship Pennsylvania was back in action in the Pacific today after a three-months' overhaul at Hunter's Point drydocks, guns of the Pearl Harbor victims Oklahoma and Nevada transferred to her turrets.

It took 211,645 nine-hour man days to put the 29-year-old veteran of two wars back in condition to resume the battle against the Japanese. During 13 Pacific amphibious operations she had hurled more than 11 million pounds of steel at the enemy. The 12 fourteen-inch rifles of her main batteries were badly worn.

Five of the fourteen-inchers were replaced from the USS Oklahoma, smashed and capsized in the Pearl Harbor attack. Six more were from the USS Nevada, also damaged at Pearl Harbor, but since refitted and back in the battle line. The twelfth big rifle was one of the "Pennys" own, repaired since she, too, was damaged in the 1941 sneak attack.

In Big Scraps

The guns taken off the Pennsylvania at Hunter's Point will be re-lined and used again in other battleships of the same type, Twelfth Naval District headquarters announced.

Those guns, and the ones of smaller calibre with which the peace-time flagship of the fleet is equipped, fired more than 75,000 rounds of ammunition against the Mikado's forces from Bering sea to Southern Australia.

On May 11, 1943, she blasted shore installations on Attu. After that she was at Kiska, Makin, the Marshalls, Eniwetok, Engobi, the Marianas, Guam, Anguar, Peleliu, Leyte and Surigao Straits. Then on January 6 of this year, in company with other battleships resurrected from Pearl Harbor, she began the shelling of Lingayen Gulf on Luzon in the Philippines.

"Combat Fatigue"

When the old battleship, commissioned at Newport News, Va., in 1916, reached Hunter's Point she was suffering from a severe case of combat fatigue. As many as 3,980 men worked on her at times during the three months as she was in drydock. Even then she went to sea again with a lot of the work the navy wanted still undone.

But Captain W. M. Moses and a crew of 1,400 took her to sea again in high spirits. She's out there some place now, as the war crowds close to the Japanese home islands and the last hiding places of the Son of Heaven's imperial navy.

With the B-29s thus hastening to enforce Gen. H. H. Arnold's promise of bombs on Japan at a rate of 2,000,000 tons a year by July 1, other American planes were striking the enemy throughout the Pacific.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced that fleet air wing one had sunk 122,645 tons of Japanese shipping and damaged 128,890 tons since beginning operations "over enemy waters" about ten weeks ago. Also destroyed 36 Japanese planes and damaged 24.

U. S. Army 11th Air Force bombers sank a medium-sized Japanese freighter and damaged two in the sea off Okhotsk, near Russian Kamchatka on Sunday, raising their total to five sunk, two probables and seven damaged in six days.

The 318th Army fighter group from Okinawa hit three Japanese airfields on Kyushu and two at Amami, north of Okinawa, Saturday.

Marine planes struck an airfield at Ishigaki Shima, southwest of Okinawa, strafed in the southern Ryukyus, and hit a freighter in the Sikkoku area besides sweeping over the Palau and Marshalls.

Manila, June 26 (AP)—In the Southwest Pacific and East Indies, American raiders rolled up this score:

Wrecked three freighters and two sailing vessels southwest of Hongkong; bombed oil storage facilities at Nanking; set fire to an alcohol plant and barracks on Formosa; again bombed Balikpapan on Eastern Borneo, destroyed four coastal vessels west of Borneo, and raided Malang airdrome, Eastern Java.

Passes Test And Is Then Arrested

Philadelphia, June 26 (AP)—Edwin O. Schaeffer, 17, passed his test for a driver's license yesterday.

Then he went home and took his 1927 model for a spin.

Police gave this account of the trip: He ran through a stop sign after losing control of the car. The car climbed a steep terrace and plowed through a hedge, narrowly missing several large trees and scattering a group of workmen.

The car finally came to a halt on the lawn, with two flat tires. Police booked him for traffic court on a charge of ignoring a stop sign.

Growing Turnips And Rutabagas

Turnips and rutabagas are among the most widely grown of late roots crops in the northern half of the United States. Under favorable conditions turnips reach edible size in 65 to 80 days after sowing seed, while rutabagas require about 30 days longer. Both are cool-weather crops and planting dates should be delayed as long as possible, July 20 being the final safe date for turnips and July 1 for rutabagas.

Both vegetables require plenty of available soil fertility to promote rapid and sustained growth. In most cases it is advisable to choose a site where some heavily fertilized earlier crop has grown, such as potatoes. Such soils need not be further stirred deeply, but the top two or three inches should be worked into a finely pulverized bed. Much of the success growers demonstrate with late turnips and rutabagas, often erroneously called "good luck," depends on care in preparing a fine stratum of surface soil above a deeply mellow layer of loam to retain plenty of moisture and furnish the roots into which they can delve unhampered.

Shade The Soil
While spring-sown turnips and rutabagas are usually grown in rows, late crops should be generally broadcast in order to provide a blanket of vegetation to shade the sun's direct rays. If turnip tops are intended to be harvested as greens, seed should be sown thickly and crowding plants later removed. For normal purposes a half ounce of seed will sow about 300 square feet of bed. Seed should be carefully raked into the soil and the surface firmed by a gentle sprinkling from the garden hose or sprinkler, or seed may be sown just before a rain where no sprinkling is possible. Otherwise it is advisable to firm the soil immediately after seeding by use of a roller or other mechanical means.

As often mentioned here, home gardeners should not overlook the excellent food values in turnips harvested as greens. Few other leafy vegetables are so rich in valuable minerals and vitamins as tender turnip tops. They are easily canned or extra late plantings may be made solely for their tops. Sown as late as early September, especially if or any establishment offering food or drinks to be consumed from the original container by the purchaser, either on or off the property, or any article of food or drink not requiring utensils for its preparation or consumption and places selling ice cream in bulk, meat shops and grocery stores are not to be considered as subject to the provisions of the act.

(b) No license can be issued until the establishment and its equipment have been inspected and found to meet the requirements of the act and of the regulations of the Advisory Health Board of the State Department of Health.

(c) The Advisory Health Board has not yet promulgated these regulations but will do so before the end of this month. Under the circumstances inspections made before these regulations become effective might fall short of what will actually be required and have to be repeated. Any licenses issued on the basis of such an incomplete inspection would have to be revoked if the establishment could not meet the requirements of the regulations.

(d) Copies of the license form which will be devised and used by the State Department of Health will be sent to all local boards of health, as soon as available, for use as samples.

OPA Amendments Scored By Solons
Washington, June 26 (AP)—Administration lawmakers who want price controls extended with as few changes as possible centered their fire in conference committee today on two amendments they regard as virtual "ripper" clauses.

One by Senator Wherry, (R-Nebr.), welded on unexpectedly during the last hour the OPA extension bill was in Senate, would establish a cost-plus pricing system for all farm products.

The other, sponsored by Rep. Dirksen, (R-Ill.), and adopted 200 to 164 by the House, would permit appeal of OPA orders and rulings to federal district courts. Such appeals now are restricted to the emergency court of appeals whose findings apply uniformly throughout the country.

If the conferees can't iron out the court appeal amendment it is going to mean a death knell to price control," Senator Ellender, (D-La.), told a reporter.

SOUTHERNERS OPPOSE FEPC

Washington, June 26 (AP)—Southern Senators may abandon a threatened filibuster against new funds for the Fair Employment Practice Committee in favor of speeding money to a score of key war agencies.

They believe they can beat a move to give FEPC $446,200 for the fiscal year beginning July 1 without resorting to delaying tactics. Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.), however, has said he is set to "talk until Christmas if necessary."

Stricken by its counterpart in the house, the Senate appropriations committee authorized an FEPC amendment to the $771,538,765 war agencies appropriations bill which came before the Senate today.

The measure includes funds for such agencies as Selective Service, the War Production Board and the War Shipping Administration, whose current appropriations expire Saturday midnight.

Because FEPC lacks statutory authority—it was created by executive order of the late President Roosevelt—a two-thirds affirmative vote is required before the Senate can consider the proposed appropriation amendment.

Hence several southern senators say they think they can rely on more than one-third of those present to block the move.

Heroic Sergeant Blasts Out Japs

Washington, June 26 (AP)—A sergeant from Mount Joy, Pa., played a heroic part in blasting the Japs from the last enemy stronghold in Intramuros, the walled inner city of Manila, the War Department disclosed today.

Tech Sgt. Harold W. Dietrick risked his life repeatedly in personally leading an assault on the well-defended enemy position with a 105mm howitzer.

"Sergeant Dietrick led his gun section over mined streets in Intramuros to a firing position near the rear gate in the south wall," said his commanding officer, Capt. James P. Walton, of the 37th Infantry Division. "His self-propelled howitzer was under direct fire from the Jap bastion 75 yards distant, but he continued to shell the bastion even after the 50-calibre machine gun mounted on the howitzer truck was destroyed."

The first theatrical production to obtain a run of over 50 nights on the English-speaking stage was the comic opera "The Beggar's Opera."

The other, sponsored by Rep. Dirksen, (R-Ill.), and adopted 200 to 164 by the House, would permit appeal of OPA orders and rulings to federal district courts. Such appeals now are restricted to the emergency court of appeals whose findings apply uniformly throughout the country.

Orttanna Defeats Arendtsville 10 - 7

Orttanna captured its sixth straight baseball victory Sunday afternoon by defeating Arendtsville on the latter's field 10-7. Loose fielding and wild hurling contributed to the heavy scoring by both teams.

C. Rebert, Orttanna hurler, connected for three hits to lead his team's attack. Sgt. Herb Deardorff, who recently returned after serving with the Third Army in Germany, played centerfield and hit a double and single.

One of the highlights of the game was Baumgardner's steal of home in the ninth inning. C. Rebert and J. Wetzel formed the battery for Orttanna with J. Spence, H. Baltzley and A. Wierman hurled for Arendtsville with Allison catching.

The Orttanna team is desirous of scheduling more games. Anyone interested should telephone Fairfield 27-R-22.

Baltimore Livestock

CATTLE—Receipts at the opening this week were about equal with those of last week, and as compared with a year ago present receipts are short around today's receipts. All slaughter classes fairly active and steady with the close of last week.

In the steer division there were a few lots of top-good and choice 1,000 lb. fed steers brought $17 the day's top; a few lots of medium to average-good, $14.25-16; a few common steers downward from $13.50. Top-pool and choice native and western fed heifers, $15-16.50; bulk of receipts graded medium to average-good, $12.50-14. In the cow division a few good beef cows largely $13-13.50; a small lot of strictly good western fed cows as high as $14.50, this was no criterion of the general market. Medium beef cows largely $11-12 with a few high-yielding individuals up to $12.50; scattered lots of cutter and common, $8-10.50; and canners, $6.50-7.50, most sales starting at $7.

Good beef bulls scarce, available supply, $14-14.50; good weighty sausage bulls also scarce and eligible to sell at $13.50; bulk of the sausage bull receipts graded cutter, common and medium, $10-13. Stocker and feeder trade slow and prices weak to 25c lower than last week's close. Good 270-300 lb. western feeder steers, $14-15. The bulk all represented weights, common and medium, $11-13; a few off-colored arrivals down to $10.

CALVES—Vealers fairly active and steady with last week's close. Mixed lots of good and choice 120-250 lb. arrivals, $10 to mainly $17; common and medium, $10-15; culls around $8, with extreme light-weights down to $5.

HOGS—Sewer trading active, prices unchanged from Saturday of last week due to cooling. Good and choice barrows and gilts, 120 lbs. up, $15.50, ceiling; good sows, $14.50, ceiling. Prices based on graded hogs.

SHEEP—Spring lambs fairly active and steady with last week's close. The practical top and popular price remained at $17; good and choice 60-80 lb. spring lambs, $16 to mainly $17; common and medium grades cabled from $13-14.50; slaughter two steady; choice lightweight woolled and shorn ewes, $8; bulk of receipts common to good, $6-7.50.

city the enemy elected so foolishly to defend, the ground forces men looked at our Air Force insignia and called out: "Nice work, Air Corps." Its source made it the most exceptional of compliments.

"I observed one marshalling yard which was little more than a gigantic anthill with bits of iron rail jutting up from the mounds of dirt. On the main street of the adjacent town could be seen parts of the freight cars which had been blown apart by the powerful bomb blast. It was gratifying to see at first hand the contribution of our tactical air power to the victory in Europe. I cannot forget the plodding thousands of slave laborers, men and women from all over Europe who were forced to support the German war machine. On their tired faces could be seen profound relief and gratitude.

Tropical Storm Is Sweeping Northeast

Washington, June 26 (AP) — A tropical storm swirling up the Atlantic coast was centered about 75 miles northeast of Cape Hatteras, N. C., early today and moving north-easterly attended by strong winds and gales.

The U. S. weather bureau said the disturbance was moving about 18 to 20 miles an hour attended by winds and gales up to 60 miles an hour.

There were no reports of casualties or serious damage along the Virginia and North Carolina coasts.

Predicts Leopold Will Abdicate Soon

Brussels, June 26 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Walter Ganshof Van Der Meersch, trusted adviser to the throne, declared today he is not attempting to form a new government at King Leopold's request and expressed belief the monarch would announce a final decision on the question of his abdication within 48 hours.

Van Der Meersch said Leopold had summoned approximately 30 high political figures from Brussels to his headquarters in Austria in an effort to learn the extent of opposition to his return to Belgium.

He added that it was possible that a government might be formed by someone at Leopold's request, but left the impression that there was slight chance of this.

At his villa in St. Wolfgang, Austria, Leopold continued to summon parliamentary leaders for consultation, ignoring Communist representatives.

SAY UNCLE

By DOROTHY BURGESS

Chapter 2

Blindly, she groped her way along the great hall of terrors to the den and entered. The closing of the door was accompanied by a terrifying clasp of thunder.

The den door flew open and Magnolia waddled in with a cup of hot coffee. She placed the silver tray on the morrowed coffee table which stood in front of the davenport. With sugar prongs, Magnolia placed in the coffee one lump of sugar, stirred it, then looked at the trim, reclining figure of Madge whose eyes were half closed.

Madge clenched her fists. "You're right, Magnolia." Then she turned slowly, facing Magnolia. "We must find a way, a way to bring him back!"

"Dat's the spirit, chile!" Magnolia burst out jubilantly. "You has got a man worth fightin' fo' and don't you ever forget it! Here," she said, fumbling through her apron pocket, she produced a mangy-looking rabbit's foot, and placed it in Madge's hand. "Dat will clinch your luck. I knows, 'cause I done raise dat rabbit mahself on nothin' but four-leaf clovers!"

Satisfied, Magnolia left the den and Madge, thoughtfully fingering the rabbit's foot, returned to the davenport.

Upstairs in the locked-up family closet, Uncle Louie was very much awake and pacing back and forth restlessly in his dark, cell-like confinement.

He humbled aloud in exasperation: "I can help that young lady, if she'll only come up here and let me out! If she doesn't, we'll both end up with nervous breakdowns!"

Uncle Louie's desperate impatience overpowered him; he frantically grabbed the door knob and nearly shook it off its hinges.

The rattling noise awakened Madge and Sunshine with a start! They both sat up with alertness, their eyes wide open, listening. Sunshine emitted a low, warning growl.

"Shhhh! Quiet, Sunshine," whispered Madge. With bated breath she waited for the uncanny sound to return, hoping fervently it wouldn't.

Upstairs Uncle Louie was also alert and listening, hoping to hear a sound—any kind of a sound, as long as it would bring action. Hearing none, again he grabbed the door knob and shook it violently. The creaking sound again pierced the den.

Madge, wild-eyed, cried, "There it is again!" Sunshine acknowledged it with a sharp bark which nearly knocked Madge out of her frightened senses.

"Let's go to bed, Sunshine. The way I'm behaving, you'd think I believed in spooks!"

But Sunshine was no longer by her side. Like a flash, he had shot past her and up the staircase, disappearing into the abyssal blackness of the deserted second floor. And he had made a beeline for the closet in Uncle Louie's room!

Madge was puzzled. She pondered. What is in that closet? What can it be? Then hopefully the thought, Maybe, years ago, one of the family dogs hid a bone in there.

And having settled on that conclusion she slowly crossed to the closet door, with Sunshine excitedly barking his approval. She thought she felt like a new person until her fingers touched the key. The clicking sound of the turning key made her grow weak in the knees.

"I must get out of here while I have an ounce of strength left!" she whispered. And, oblivious to Sunshine's renewed pleading, she moved unsteadily toward the door, when suddenly a horrible thing happened. A gust of cold air swept in from the hallway and maliciously blew out her candle!

Creak—Creak! Sounded the slow-opening closet door.

Squeak—squeak—squeak! Madge knew instinctively that the squeaks were coming from shoes. They grew louder as the shoes slowly, ever so slowly, neared her. And there she stood powerless, at the shoe-wearer's mercy. She expected that at any moment of cold, bony hand would reach out and clutch her throat. But to her inexhaustible amazement the squeaking ceased. Then another new sound broke the silence.

Scratch—scratch—scratch! it went, as though someone were trying to light a match. And Madge guessed why. She was about to say a hurried prayer, when—pop!—the match ignited and there was a light! And what did she see? Not a horrible monster, but a little old man about five feet three, who stood beaming at her.

"Hello," he said shyly.

Madge gasped, "Uncle Louie!"

"My dear," he said gently, between the annoying squeaks of his shoes, "I hope I haven't frightened you?"

Madge wasn't just frightened—she was paralyzed; holding her candle high, in a frozen pose, like the Statue of Liberty.

Uncle Louie came to a standstill directly in front of her. He looked at his burning match and then at Madge.

"Would you like me to light your candle?" he asked rather timidly.

"Please, my dear," he said soothingly, "don't be frightened, I'm really quite harmless."

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:

I wish to thank you for sending me the home town paper. It's really swell to know what's going on back home.

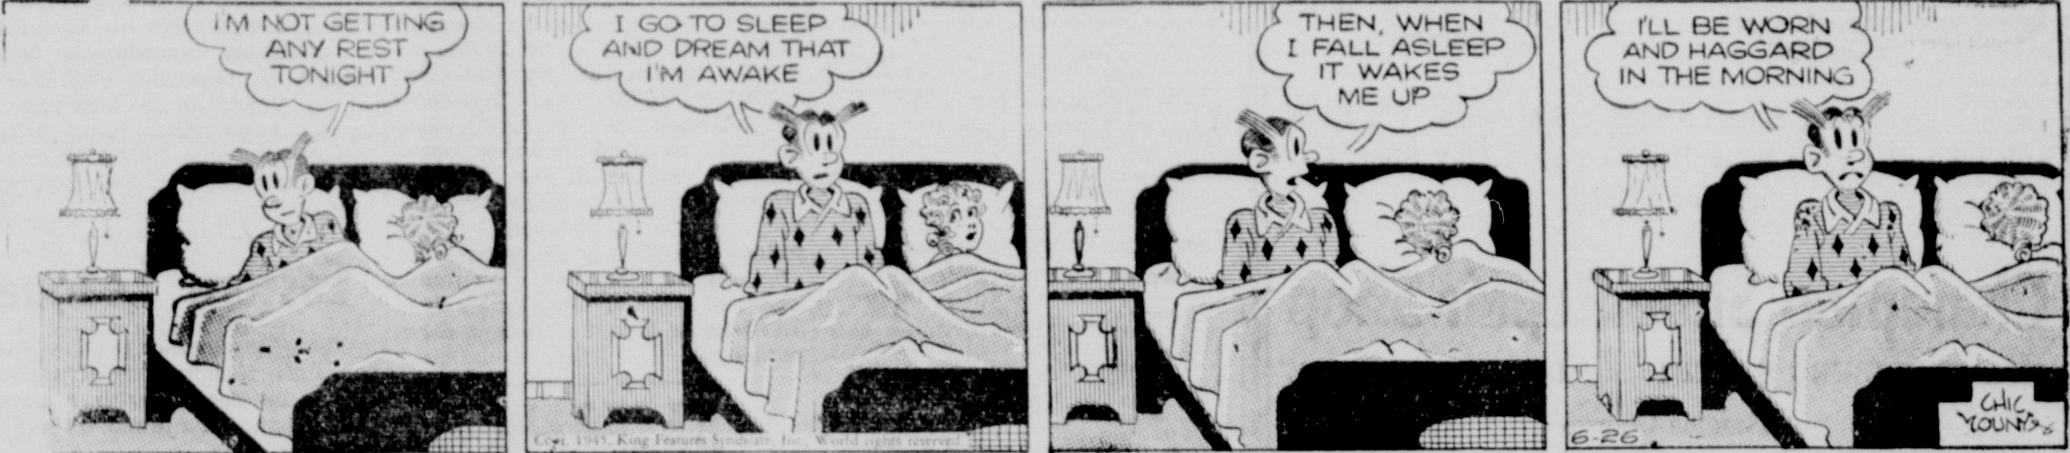

I have been transferred from my old outfit. I am now stationed near Donai, France. Had been in Belgium and Holland for a while and liked it up there pretty good. It really rains a lot in Belgium. I don't know when the farmers get any work done.

The homes in Holland are much like our own homes in Pennsylvania. I was really surprised to find Holland such a nice place.

I must close now. Again I wish to thank you for the good service of your paper.

Sincerely yours,
CPL. WALDO FUNT

New York, June 26 (AP)—Broadcast of President Truman's address to the final session of the United Nations Conference will be carried tonight from San Francisco by all networks some time after 8 o'clock.
This is a change from the previously announced listing.The President is to be last of several speakers, his exact time depending on the length of the preceding talks. The session itself is set to open at 7 and to run about an hour and a half.NBC said it expected to go on the air at 7, continuing through to the conclusion. The MBS and the ABC schedules called for 8:15 or later, just ahead of the president's talk.
CBS also reported it would carry Mr. Truman. However, it was indicated developments may cause a change in these plans.Programs ordinarily heard at these times will be cancelled—at the last minute if need be.

REYNOLDS TOPS
MAJOR HURLERS
IN NIGHT GAMES

By TED MEIER

(Associated Press Sportswriter)

Bucky Walters of the Cincinnati Reds no longer is "king" of night game pitchers in the major leagues.An off-day study of this year's box scores, as the big league teams spent yesterday traveling, revealed that the third baseman-turned twirler, undisputed after-dark master in 1944, has won only two of six starts under the lights this season.Replacing him at the top is Allie Reynolds, fireball right-hander of the Cleveland Indians, who is unbeaten in four starts.Closely bunched behind Reynolds are Sig Jakucki, of the St. Louis Browns; Van Lingle Mungo of the New York Giants; and Jack Creel of the St. Louis Cardinals. Each are undefeated in three starts.Two of Reynolds' victories were against the Browns. He beat the American league champions, 2 to 1, on May 2 with a neat 13-inning four-hitter. He beat the Browns again on June 15, 5 to 2. He whipped Washington, 3 to 2, on May 23; and only last Friday turned back the Chicago White Sox, 2 to 1, with a masterful three-hitter.

LOU NOVA BOWS TO MAURIELLO

By BILL KING

Boston, June 26 (AP)—Iron-fisted Tami Mauriello, young New York heavyweight, appeared assured of doing some post-war battling with the U. S. Army's Billy Conn or Champion Joe Louis today on the strength of his one-round knockout of Lou Nova, the Los Angeles veteran.Nova, who had put together an impressive winning streak in recent months, lasted only two innings, 47 seconds with the hard-slugging New Yorker when they put on their sec-ing clash last night before a disappointing paid crowd of 7,334 at Fenway park.During the first minute of their scheduled 10-rounder, Mauriello landed a terrific right that opened a cut over Nova's left eye while bruising that side of his face. The Californian then made a feeble effort to get going, only to stumble and go down on one knee for a nine-count under a left hook to the head.After taking a heavy two-fisted battering about the head, Nova came off the ropes with his guard down and was met with another bone-crushing right near the jaw that dropped him face-down for the full-count. Mauriello weighed 197, six pounds less than his hapless rival, who was the victim of a six-round technical knockout decision in their first bout in New York about three years ago.

DOUBLE-HEADER

(By The Associated Press)

Lancaster and Wilmington go back to bat today in their fiery race for the Interstate league pinnacle in single games with Trenton and Allentown.Both teams were idle yesterday as York's Red Roses, helped by a lightning triple play, spanked the Trenton Spartans, 12-5 and 7-1, in a twin bill.With two men on base in the second game, catcher Chew scooped up a dribbler in front of the plate and fired the ball to second baseman Broome. Broome relayed it to first baseman Napole, who rifled it back to Chew to retire three Spartans.A nine run uprising in the fifth inning of the opener was enough to give York the victory. Jim Patton hurled three-hit ball to squelch the Spartans in the nightcap.

Tonight's schedule:

York at Hagerstown

Wilmington at Trenton

Lancaster at Allentown

Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, June 26 (AP)—If all sports booms that are predicted for the postwar period materialize, a lot of veterans will think an artillery barrage still is going on. . . . George Corcoran, head of the Carolina section of the PGA, now comes up with the statement that golf is due for a boom after this war even bigger than baseball made after the Civil War. . . . His reasons are that the Army, Navy and Marines have put a great deal of emphasis on golf and that equipment will be more reasonably priced. . . . On that basis, a boom in the game of galloping dominoes should be sensational.
(The greatest improvement this dept.
has noticed was that Mobile press box they tried at Detroit's big fore-tourney last week-end. Now if they'd rig up something like that for the gallery, the game really would go somewhere.)

HOLD YOUR BREATH DEPT.

Comment from Carter (Scoop)
Latimer, the Greenville, S. C. scribe:
"Probably the strain of pitching in 43 games last year is telling on Bill Voiselle. Remember? Dizzy Dean once paid the penalty for overwork.
Bill will come back, though, unless the deafness which made him 4-F went in one ear and came out in his right arm. . . . Since Mel Ott imposed that $500 fine, it could be Voiselle has Ott-burn from over-(b)eating."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

The Detroit Lions will establish a training camp in Canada this year—to keep George Preston Marshall from saying that the Redskins at least never left the country, they point out that it will be at Assumption college, Windsor, Ont., 15 minutes from their downtown offices.
In addition to $2,000 prize money posted for this week's pro tennis tourney, any gate receipts over the expenses will be split between the competing players and the Pro Tennis association. . . . The baseball museum at Cooperstown, N.
Y., has just acquired a copy of the "Live Oaks Polka," a song dedicated to the Live Oaks club that was the pride of Rochester in the 1840's.
Jimmy Conzelman's famous Dayton U. commencement address on "A Young Man's Physical and Mental Approach to War" is to be included in the official history of naval aviation physical and military training.
